Metadata as Content: Navigating the Intersection of Repositories, Documentation, and Legacy futures

Erik Radio
University of Arizona
@erik_radio

Semantic Loss
Semiotic Chain
Processual Documentation
“The information that gets stored is at best what can be stored using the currently available technology...In this process, people naturalize the historically contingent structuring of information; they often begin to see it as inevitable.”

“...it is in the nature of deconstruction not just to see the wider context (those traces, or specters, stretching back into the past in infinite regress), but also the fluidity, the flexibility, the ultimately uncontrollable nature of context.”

Futures